The federal venue statute requires that a civil action, other than one based on diversity jurisdiction, be brought only in "(1) a judicial district in which any defendant resides, if all defendants part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is brought as provided in this section, any judicial district in which any defendant is subject to the court's are residents of the State in which the district is located; (2) a judicial district in which a substantial the subject of the action is situated; or (3) if there is no district in which an action may otherwise be personal jurisdiction with respect to such action." 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b).

In this case, Petitioner is challenging a prison disciplinary hearing held at High Desert State Prison ("HDSP") in Susanville, California, concerning events which occurred when Petitioner was incarcerated at HDSP. HDSP is located in the Sacramento Division of the Eastern District of California. Since the events giving rise to the claim took place at HDSP in Susanville, California, the petition should have been filed in the Sacramento Division. In the interest of justice, a federal court
